INTRODUCTION

How we'll work together on this

This proposal lays out how we'll get [Client name] clear on who you're for and why you're different — then build the website, product, and software around that clarity.

Fixed scope. Fixed price. Two weeks to clarity.

Executive summary

In one line

Anyone can ship software now. The edge is clarity — in the brand and the product around it.

What you get

A clear position, the words to sell it, and a team that can build it.

Timeline

Two weeks to a direction you can act on.

A clear foundation before you build

In 2 weeks, MarcVista gets you crystal-clear on who you're building for and why you're different — combining brand strategy and product direction in one engagement — then helps build the website, messaging, and software around that clarity.

It saves teams from the most expensive startup mistake: building the right product for the wrong audience, or the right product with the wrong story. We've put 100K+ hours into shipping software, so the direction we set is one we know how to build.

This document covers the problem, what we do, the process, our track record, scope, and three fixed-price options — from positioning alone to a fully built product.

2 wks

To a clear direction.

100K+

Coding hours behind the work.

Lead with where it hurts: in the AI era, the product is no longer the hard part.

The problem

In the AI era, anyone can ship software. Standing out is the hard part.

The seed a founder puts at risk by building before they're clear on who they're for and why they're different.

$500K+

WASTED RUNWAY

Teams raise, hire, and build before positioning is settled — then burn months on the wrong direction.

A PITCH THAT SLIPS

Generic messaging stalls sales and fundraising at the worst possible moment.

BUILD, THEN REBUILD

Shipping the wrong product for the wrong audience means paying engineers to do it twice.

A 2-week sprint that treats brand strategy and product direction as one job.

Our approach

One studio for the brand and the build

We start by getting your positioning right, then carry that clarity straight into the product and the code. Three ways we work, often in sequence.

Brand & positioning

Who you're for and why you're different — the foundation everything else is built on.

- Audience & market
- Positioning statement
- Messaging & narrative

Product & web

The site and product experience, designed around the story so they pull in one direction.

- Marketing website
- Product UX & UI
- Design system

Software builds

We ship it too. MVPs and production builds from people with 100K+ coding hours.

- MVP & web apps
- AI & integrations
- Launch & iteration

Fixed scope, fixed price, and a date you can plan around — whether you need positioning alone or the whole thing built.

Five steps across two weeks, so we can do the best work for your brand.

The process

A clear path from first call to finished work. You're in the loop at every step.

Duration

Two weeks for positioning and direction; build timelines are scoped per project.

These are the steps we'll take

01	Discovery We dig into your market, customers, and competitors — and the product you have or plan to build.	Day 1–2
02	Positioning We define who you're for, why you're different, and the one thing you stand for.	Day 3–5
03	Messaging Homepage copy, pitch narrative, and the words your team uses everywhere.	Day 6–8
04	Build direction Website structure, product UX, and software architecture that line up with the positioning.	Day 9–11
05	Handoff & build Everything documented and handed over — or we build and ship it from there.	Day 12–14
